THE LOS ANGELES VISITORS ARRIVE THIS MORNING FROM HILO-BEDECKED WITH LEIS BY RECEPTION COMMITTEE

DELIGHTED CROWD MEETS CARAVAN

Through the gates of Naval Wharf Number One at 7 o'clock this morning there began to stream a crowd of men and women, merry and expectant, ready to welcome the Los Angeles excursionists aboard the S. S. Ohio and curious to learn what manner of discoveries were the men and women coming to take possession of the city for a week.

There were fifteen hundred people on the wharf when the Ohio crawled alongside. Crawled is the proper word, for she entered very slow and those on the wharf were impatient.

The Ohio was reported at 7:10, the usual three whistles being blown five minutes later. She did not have to wait outside for the medical inspection given boats from outside the Territory, for she came from Hilo and with a clean record, except that one or two felt seasick. There were none who felt homesick. They were having too good a time.

COMMITTEE

MISSSES LAUNCH

Secretary H. P. Wood of the Hawaii Promotion Committee was the only member of the reception committee to get out in the launch to welcome the visitors. The other gentlemen got to the wharf just in time to miss the launch and so waited, in good humor, to board the vessel when she should dock. Secretary Wood went out in the launch loaded with Hilo leis and when the vessel came alongside every

VISITORS STORM CROWD WITH FRUIT

A great surprise was sprung on the waiting Honolulu crowd when the Ohio was about to dock. Some two dozen men and women of the excursion party were lined up on the port side of the vessel as she came into the naval slip, armed with market baskets loaded with large California oranges, just out of the refrigerator. Many of the oranges were over-ripe as people on the wharf discovered to their vexation, although, aforesaid vexation was of course hidden by polite smiles and a jovial good humor which did them credit.

Fire was opened from the bow by a tall Angel in a tweed suit and a white cap. He threw the first oranges into the crowd. Hands were uplifted to catch the golden shower of souvenirs, but when the broadside of orange-throwers opened up there were many more missed than were caught. Those ladies who carried umbrellas or parasols were fortunate in their protection. One man with a slouch hat, closed umbrella and spectacles received an orange on his left cheek, losing his hat, sunshade and goggles. The over-ripe fruit smashed and splattered on the asphalt and disturbed puddles, but the crowd accepted the fruit in the spirit in which it was given, though one or two may have wished for nice soft papayas to throw back.

The Ohio presented a pretty picture as she entered the slip. From nose to masthead she was dressed with many flags and all her passengers wore the Hilo leis taken out to them.

Aft, a quintet club from Hilo was playing Hawaiian airs and there were men, and women, dancing on the canvassed upper deck, endeavoring to put into their movements something of the fascinating Hawaiian swing of which a glimpse was had in Hilo.

JOLLY GROUPS ON OHIO'S DECKS

Well-to-do men with the appearance of prominent citizens and people of affairs, public, political, commercial and social, and ladies in the springtime, swarmed to the rail, waved their hands and handkerchiefs, yelled and shrilled hurrahs and looked altogether happy and content.

Above all other sounds the welcoming Hawaiian Band, in many strains, was pleasurable.

Nearly everybody wore some kind of decoration, badge or button. There were large gold-fringed Chamber of Commerce badges, fraternal order buttons and buttons bearing pictures of oranges and bears and other signs appropriate as indicating California.

DECORATIONS IN EVIDENCE

Most of the ladies and many of the men wore around their hats and caps bands of black with gold lettering giving the name of the ship in which they are traveling. A large number wore carnation leis and wreaths of other beautiful flowers presented to them by friends made in Hilo.

Cabins, social hall, saloon, smoking room and docks spoke eloquently of merriment and had the appearance of a hotel after a flower festival, dance, banquet and surprise party combined.

The people, 113 men and 122 women, are not crowded aboard, however. The

INDICTED FOR INCENDIARISM

GRAND JURY HOLDS CLAVERDON SAILORS FOR MALICIOUS BURNING—SECRET FILE CASES.

The grand jury reported to Judge De Bolt this afternoon, returning ten indictments, eight going on the secret file until 3 a. m. tomorrow. C. Ahrens and Jacques Guerre are indicted for malicious burning, first degree. They are members of the crew of the British ship Claverdon, who are alleged to have attempted to set fire to the vessel on March 12. The intention was to indict them if the evidence warranted it and then have the cases moved along the calendar ahead of other criminal cases, so that the trials can take place while the ship is in port.

Ahrens seems to be the worse offender, according to the claims of the master of the vessel, Captain David Thompson. The value of the ship is 12,000 pounds, and the value of the cargo $100,000.
